ASCRS 2025 Annual Meeting
Saturday, May 10th – Tuesday, May 13th, 2025
Anticipated Attendance: 2,800

Group Description

The American Society of Colon and Rectal Surgeons (ASCRS) is a professional organization established in 1899, dedicated to advancing the field of colon and rectal surgery. ASCRS provides its members with educational resources, training programs, and networking opportunities to enhance their skills and expertise in diagnosing, treating, and managing conditions affecting the colon, rectum, and anus. ASCRS sets standards for clinical practice and ethical conduct, offers certification programs, and advocates for policies that promote colorectal health and improve access to care. Through its activities, ASCRS aims to advance the field of colon and rectal surgery, improve patient outcomes, and promote colorectal health and well-being.

Attendee Profile

The American Society of Colon & Rectal Surgeons (ASCRS) Annual Meeting gathers a diverse group of professionals dedicated to advancing the field of colorectal surgery. Attendees include colorectal surgeons specializing in the surgical treatment of diseases affecting the colon, rectum, and anus, as well as general surgeons with an interest in colorectal procedures. Gastroenterologists, who manage digestive disorders that may require surgical intervention, and oncologists focused on colorectal cancer treatment also participate. Medical researchers engaged in studies on colorectal diseases, treatments, and surgical advancements attend to share their findings. Residents and fellows in colorectal or general surgery training programs benefit from the educational opportunities, while nurses, physician assistants, and other allied health professionals contribute to discussions on patient care. Additionally, medical device and pharmaceutical representatives showcase the latest surgical instruments and treatments, and healthcare administrators and policymakers attend to stay informed on industry trends and guidelines. The event serves as a crucial platform for networking, education, and the exchange of cutting-edge knowledge in colorectal health and surgery.
