2026 IADR General Session & Exhibition
International Association for Dental Research
Wednesday, March 25th – Saturday, March 28th, 2026
Anticipated Attendance: 3,000

Group Description

The International Association for Dental Research (IADR) is a global nonprofit organization dedicated to advancing research and increasing knowledge to improve oral health worldwide. Founded in 1920, IADR supports scientific discovery and collaboration through its network of members, which includes researchers, academics, and clinicians from over 100 countries. The organization hosts the IADR Annual Meeting, a major international convention showcasing the latest advancements in dental, oral, and craniofacial research.

Attendee Profile

Attendees typically include dental and oral health researchers from universities, research institutes, and government organizations, clinicians and practicing dentists interested in the latest scientific advances, graduate students and post-doctoral trainees presenting research, industry scientists and technology developers showcasing products and innovations, and academic faculty and policymakers focused on oral health research and public health issues. The event also draws representatives from related associations such as the American Association for Dental, Oral, and Craniofacial Research (AADOCR) and the Canadian Association for Dental Research (CADR), making it a truly collaborative and multidisciplinary gathering for professionals and students worldwide.
